

Self Monitoring

Verify self-monitoring completed by patient as part of self-management such as:

- use of glucometer to test blood glucose levels properly
- ability to fill pill box correctly
- use of blood pressure cuff to monitor blood pressure properly
- use of scale to monitor weight gain

You want to indicate that not only that the patient is performing the function, but the patient is recording the result and understands what to do with the information.